

FROM GOD

*Ashes to ashes . . . dust to dust; still true as written among the pages
And the Ten Commandments I passed to Moses lives down throughout the ages
To the Prophets of old, Mary & Joseph, John the Baptist and finally to Jesus, and to you
Our covenant is unbroken - a bond of love to hold us together - a timeless renewal*

*But while reclining here in heaven and checking out the lay of my land Thunder clouds and lightning bolts appear from mountain top to valley floor, among the waters and desert sands
Oh my beloved precious children, I love you more than you will ever know
But as we approach the second millennium . . . remember that you reap what you sow*

*It seems that it all began with Adam & Eve . . . the beginning seeds of sin evolved from there
And as you continued to disobey our covenant, my slow anger, was often laid bare
I tested you with floods, famines and diseases, to guide you back to the jewels
And I sent Jesus, my son, to live among you, to preach the good news and the golden rule*

*Jesus Christ, the fisher of men, answers your questions for all eternity
Taking you beyond the day-to-day planting and harvesting, to a higher being with certainty
Beyond what you can see and feel, and beyond your daily disappointments and heartfelt cares Christ plants the seed for a vision a peace and love, with many good things to share*

*So this Holiday Season . . . this message is passed on to you for meditation and action
I implore you my children, to come to a feast . . . to join the sacred communion
I shall set you a plate at the head of my table . . . a place at my right hand
And as always, I wish you love, health, hope and peace . . . many more times than the blowing grains of sand.*
