

As You build the Road to God

With the push of a voice... Jesus and others so enlightened proclaim a message to one and all: To keep building the road to God
Yet how do we know which way to go, and even if these rumors of another world will turn into our heavenly armada?

The earliest artifacts reveal a treasure trove pointing to something with a greater dynamic than what's here in our own maze
Thus searching the soul to ponder the road construction and engineering requirements will take time, talent and treasures to raise

From the very beginning the Word from God was love... echoing to every corner of time and space and then finally to humankind
Love is the cement that binds this road for optimum traveling conditions; yet it is always in need of constant re-supply
Time will always show this road in need of repairs, as the potholes of our lives have tested the structural engineering integration
But this road built on love, alas not taken by some... still lumbers on... cracks and U-turns and always testing the human equation

The road took a remarkable turn of events with the birth of Jesus in a poor and humble manger along the road along the way
The first billboard from Jesus is that the tolls have been removed, so all can travel equally with those who have money, connections and speed
The only toll is a simple request... to love one and all and to do unto others, as you would have them do to you, as all should heed

The finger of Gods' right hand points in the direction that this road needs to take to bring us safely home
Sometimes we might get a little off course... so Christmas gives us the chance to check the map and correct our roaming
Now is the time to gather around the hearth and home and re-check our compass for a true course on the highway
And to gather the necessary tools and materials needed for the months and years ahead and to replenish the soul for a brand new day

Happy Motoring on this highway built with Love I extend to one and all and may your collisions be few and far between
And a peaceful New Year with countless blessings yet untold but to be revealed and seen!
